WELCOME TO THE

Lake Harney Wilderness Area

Explore One of Seminole County's Naturally Beautiful Places!

The Lake Harney Wilderness Area (LHWA) is approximately 300 acres and is located on the St. Johns River and the northwest shore of Lake Harney. This site is home to a historic crossing of the the Okeechobee branch of the Florida East Coast Railway, Native American shell middens, several bald eagle's nests, oak hammocks and mixed hardwood swamps. This site also contains extensive floodplain marshes associated with Lake Harney which serve as important feeding grounds for wading birds and as a natural filter improving water quality.

The trail system of the LHWA consists of the Flagler Trail which bisects the site from the Trailhead northeast to the St. Johns River and two loop trails. The River Loop, blazed in yellow, is located at the northern end of the Flagler Trail traversing oak hammocks and mixed pine oak forests. This loop is approximately 0.6 miles long and provides several scenic views of the St. Johns River. The Floodplain Loop, approximately one mile long, is located at the southern end of the Trailhead and is blazed in orange. This trail is seasonally flooded, but provides extensive views of the Lake Harney Floodplain and a great opportunity for bird watching and wildlife viewing.

Observation Tower: Located overlooking the Lake Harney floodplain, the observation tower and approaching boardwalk offers a fantastic view at tree canopy level.
